

PARKS AND RECREATION COMMISSION STAFF REPORT

MEETING DATE: April 7, 2015

AGENDA ITEM NUMBER: 3E

APPLICANT: Vern L. Krahn, Senior Park Planner

REQUEST: For Possible Action: To approve the Parks and Recreation Commission's report on the Parks and Recreation Master Plan and request City staff to submit the report to the Planning Commission and the Board of Supervisors.

GENERAL DISCUSSION:

On March 4, 2014 the Parks and Recreation Commission began an extensive review of the Parks and Recreation Master Plan adopted by the Board of Supervisors on April 6, 2006. This chapter by chapter review provided the public and the Commission with the opportunity to decide if the Master Plan was still a viable and relevant planning document. The Master Plan review continued throughout the year at seven Commission meetings averaging approximately an hour each meeting for this agenda item. The Commission completed its final chapter(s) review of the Master Plan on November 5, 2014.

At the September 2014 Parks and Recreation Commission meeting, staff presented the idea of developing a report for the Commission's with key findings on issues and/or topics identified during the year-long review of the Master Plan (Meeting Video Time [Point of Reference] – 3:23/3:44:20). This approach would replace the Commission's original intentions of making recommendations to the Board of Supervisors to change the Parks and Recreation Master Plan. Parks and Recreation Department staff confirmed this new direction with the Commission at their November 5, 2014 meeting (Meeting Video Time [Point of Reference] – 1:36/2:05:12).

On February 3, 2015, the Parks and Recreation Department staff submitted to the Parks and Recreation Commission a draft report on their year-long review of the Parks and Recreation Master Plan. After a discussion the Commission requested further information to be included in the report highlighting the increase use of the Bob Boldrick Theater and Community Center; the introduction of new recreation and aquatic programs; and the completion of new park facilities between April 2006 to present. The Commission felt it was important for the Board of Supervisors to understand the overall effort that the Parks and Recreation Department has done to continue providing a high level of public service. This includes staff assuming more and more responsibilities while bringing new recreation programming and park facilities on-line in the face of large budget and staffing cuts.

Staff has returned to the Commission with a FINAL DRAFT of the Parks and Recreation Master Plan report for review (Exhibit A). If the Commission approves this report, the report will be forwarded to the Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors for their information. Staff reserves the right for format and editorial changes to the report prior to submitting the report.

RECOMMENDED ACTION: I move to approve the Parks and Recreation Commission's report on the Parks and Recreation Master Plan and request City staff to submit the report to the Planning Commission and the Board of Supervisors.

ALTERNATE ACTION:

I move to identify the addition of key issues and/or topics in the Parks and Recreation Master Plan report and request staff to return at the next meeting with another DRAFT report for the Commission to review.

Parks and Recreation Commission's Report to the Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors on the Parks and Recreation Master Plan

----- FINAL DRAFT -----

April 7, 2015

On March 4, 2014 the Parks and Recreation Commission began an extensive year-long review of the Parks and Recreation Master Plan adopted by the Board of Supervisors on April 6, 2006. The intent of this chapter by chapter review by the Commission was for the following two purposes. First, it was to assess the City's progress and accomplishments with the implementation of the plan. Second, it was to assess if the underlying principles within the Master Plan were still viable nine years later and if the Master Plan was still a relevant planning document. The Master Plan review was done throughout 2014 at seven different Commission meetings averaging approximately an hour for each chapter. The Commission completed its review of the Master Plan's last two chapters on November 5, 2014.

Through this report, the Commission will share its observations and conclusions with both the Planning Commission and Board of Supervisors on the relevant "highlights" from all eight chapters in the Master Plan and will note a number of issues to be addressed in any future update of the plan. In addition, this report will provide a "Snapshot in Time" on the increased use of the Bob Boldrick Theater and Community Center; the introduction of new recreation and aquatic programs; and the completion of many new park facilities from April 2006 to present. The Commission felt it was important for the Board of Supervisors to understand the overall effort that both the Parks and Recreation Commission and the Parks and Recreation Department has done to implement the Parks and Recreation Master Plan and the Parks and Recreation Department's continued efforts to provide a high level of public service with staff assuming more and more responsibilities in the face of large budget and staffing cuts.

Chapter 1: Forward

- A) Even with the addition of many new parks and the expansion of the City's trail system, there is still much that needs to be done in the way of addressing recreational facility inadequacies. There are shortages of some recreational facilities within areas of the City to meet the needs of its current underserved population. In addition, there are some areas of the City that have more recreation resources than others. This will require the City to provide additional facilities and programs in the future.
- B) Commission's Chapter Review Recommendation: The Parks and Recreation Commission recommends in a future Parks and Recreation Master Plan that reviewing the plan every year (as noted in the Master Plan under "Policies" on page 1-5) is not realistic but to study the "feasibility of reviewing the Master Plan every five years" instead.

Chapter 2: Executive Summary

- A) The key planning concepts within the Parks and Recreation Master Plan are still viable and a relevant guide for City staff, the Planning Commission, and Board of Supervisors. These key planning concepts are as follows:
 - a. Population Growth and the Need for Parks and Recreation
 - b. Neighborhoods and Recreation Equity
 - c. Emphasis on Natural Parks
 - d. Comprehensive Recreation Centers to Meet a Variety of Indoor Recreation Needs
 - e. The Economic Potential of Recreation
 - i. Sports Tournaments
 - ii. Unique Amenities Encourage Tourism
 - iii. A Quality Park System Attracts Business and Employees
 - f. Consistent Cost Recapture
 - g. Additional Funding in Needed for New Parks and Recreation Facilities
 - h. Maintaining and Expanding Recreation Partnership

- i. Innovation in Recreation Programs to Meet Changing Needs
- B) Commission's Chapter Review Recommendation: The Parks and Recreation Commission had no changes or amendments in Chapter 2.

Chapter 3: The Public Input Process

- A) The Parks and Recreation Master Plan was updated in 2005/06 along with the City's overall Comprehensive Master Plan. It would be important with any future update to the City's Comprehensive Master Plan to again include the Parks and Recreation Master Plan in this process.
- B) Significant effort was made to provide a variety of opportunities for community input including a statistically valid public opinion survey. This would be a very important aspect to include in the updating of the Parks and Recreation Master Plan.
- C) Parks and Recreation Department conducts follow up surveys every 3 to 5 years to track trends and attitudes. This keeps the department informed on current and evolving needs with the community.
- D) The Parks and Recreation Department in 2010 conducted an indoor recreation needs assessment survey. The community outreach included a variety of venues and involved 783 participants. The survey's results were consistent with the Parks and Recreation Master Plan's statistically valid public opinion survey. The results showed that indoor recreation facilities were given the lowest "satisfaction" ranking. It stated that 57% of the respondents were unsatisfied with the "Availability of Indoor Recreation Opportunities."
- E) Commission's Chapter Review Recommendation: The Parks and Recreation Commission recommends in a future Parks and Recreation Master Plan, "To conduct follow-up public opinion surveys when a review of the master plan is approved by the Board of Supervisors."

Chapter 4: Trends

- A) During the review of the Parks and Recreation Master Plan, the Commission reviewed current demographic trends. Carson City's population in 2004 was 55,625 and in 2012 the City's population was 55,441.
- B) Several key concerns related to shifting demographics are related to facility expansion and recreation programming with Carson City's population segment (35-64). Carson City's population has been slowly growing older and the City's Hispanic population has been growing rapidly from 14% in 2000 to 21.3% in 2010.
- C) The Commission affirmed the fundamental "Community Build Out" assumptions in the Master Plan are still relevant for planning the City's facilities, parks, trails, and recreation programming.
- D) Commission's Chapter Review Recommendation: The Parks and Recreation Commission had no changes or amendments in Chapter 4.

Chapter 5: Recreation Programs

- A) The department's recreation division's budget has seen its budget reduced and a number of staff reductions from 2006 to present. However, in light of these staff and budget reductions, the Recreation Division has been able to maintain a number of existing offerings, provide a variety of programming innovations, and brought new programs on-line.
- B) The City partnered with the Carson City Visitors Bureau to support sports tourism within the community.

- C) When the Parks and Recreation Master Plan was developed in 2005 and approved by the Board of Supervisors in April 2006 the Recreation Division was looking at expanding the youth and sports program and providing many recreational program opportunities for the residents in Carson City.
- D) The Recreation Division experienced a significant staffing and budget reduction in the City's 2007/08 fiscal year. The Recreation Division had another budget reduction happen in 2009/10 fiscal year, including significant division reorganization. As a result of these staffing and budget cuts, the City's Recreation Division was reduced from 3 (2006 – Full Time) youth program staff to 1 ½ (2014 – Full Time) staff. The same was true for the sports program staff. The sports program staff went from 2 (2006 – Full Time) staff to 1 ½ (2014 – Full Time) staff. With these staffing reductions and a corresponding budget loss the Recreation Division has been only able to provide essential sport league and youth programs. All other amenity services were dropped and have not been re-established at this time. The biggest impact/reduction in the Recreation Division was in the administrative support staff services which was reduced by 2 ½ Full Time employees. The loss of this administrative staff not only impacted the youth and sports programs but had a significant impact to both pool and theater operations. Also, with these staff reductions the Parks and Recreation Department had to terminate the "Discover Us" which was staff's largest and most effective marketing tool.
- E) Commission's Chapter Review Recommendation: The Parks and Recreation Commission recommends in a future Master Plan that there be a table identifying existing recreation programming opportunities to provide a "snapshot in time" to compare the program changes over time and replace the word scholarship with "financial aid" to clarify the City has the ability to assist families by off-setting recreation program fees.

Chapter 6: Facilities

- A) When the Parks and Recreation Master Plan was approved by the Board of Supervisors in April 2006, the plan was anticipating significant growth within the community and the need to provide additional park facilities to accommodate that growth in population. Although the population remained static, a number of new neighborhood park facilities have been added to the City's park system.
- B) The Parks Division incurred significant staffing and budget reductions in the City's 2007/08 fiscal year. As a result of these staffing and budget cuts, the City's Parks Division lost 3 full time and 13 seasonal workers. This resulted in a reduction of the Parks Division's level of service throughout the City's park system.
- C) As mentioned above, the Parks and Recreation Department has acquired 3 new neighborhood park facilities and expand another neighborhood park since 2006, including all the landscaped traffic islands and right-of-way areas on Carson Street (north of Fairview Drive). The additional labor requirements for these areas were absorbed without any increase to our department's labor budget or its operational budget for materials.
- D) Also, the Recreation Division's aquatic facility and theater saw budget cuts and staffing reductions. However, the aquatic facility and theater have maintained a number of existing offerings, provided a variety of program innovations, and brought new programs on-line.

- E) When the Parks and Recreation Master Plan was approved by the Board of Supervisors in April 2006 there was significant discussion in the plan about developing a "leisure pool" component to the aquatic facility and opportunities for improvements to the Bob Boldrick Theater. The recent passage of the 1/8th Cent Sales Tax increase includes funding for badly needed improvements to the theater.
- F) As mentioned above, the Recreation Division had both staffing and budget reductions in the City's 2007/08 and 2009/10 fiscal years, including a significant reorganization. With these reductions, the Recreation Division has been able to provide only essential services and basic maintenance at the Community Center.
- G) One of the biggest impact/reductions for the Recreation Division has been associated with the Aquatic Facility and Theater. It was in the area of administrative support staff services which was reduced by 2 ½ full-time employees. The loss of this administrative staff not only impacted the youth and sports programs but had a significant impact to both pool and theater operations. This impact included reduction in pool operation hours.
- H) The Community Center's hourly staffing level was reduced by several thousand personnel hours. Unfortunately, less than one half of the funding has been restored. The remaining staff has performed admirably under these conditions. However, the Community Center and Bob Boldrick Theater are no longer polished in appearance and the existing equipment is increasingly showing its age. This lower service level related to building maintenance and the aging equipment is due to the reduced staffing levels and the lack of funding for equipment replacement.
- I) Commission's Chapter Review Recommendation: The Parks and Recreation Commission had no changes or amendments in Chapter 6.

Chapter 7: Funding and Priorities

- A) The Parks and Recreation Department receives the majority of its funding for capital improvement projects from either the Quality of Life Initiative (Question 18) or Residential Construction Tax. Just recently the Board of Supervisors voted in a 1/8 Cent Sales Tax to help supplement the Multi-purpose Athletic Center Project budget and provide $500,000 for Community Center improvements.
- B) The Commission takes no exception to the existing Tier 1 and Tier 2 General Priorities identified in this Chapter.
- C) In a future Parks and Recreation Master Plan update, the Commission wants to consider the reinvestment of sport tourism/economic development dollars into the sport complexes that generate these dollars.
- D) A high priority for the Commission is to provide restrooms (porta-potties) to park and trailhead facilities that currently do not have these structures in place.
- E) Commission's Chapter Review Recommendation: The Parks and Recreation Commission had no changes or amendments in Chapter 7.

Chapter 8: Policies

- A) The Commission takes no exception to the existing policies identified in this Chapter.
- B) Commission's Chapter Review Recommendation: The Parks and Recreation Commission had no changes or amendments in Chapter 8.

After the Commission's year-long review of the Parks and Recreation Master Plan, the Commission has determined the existing policies and tenants of the Master Plan are still viable and relevant to guide to City staff, the Planning Commission, and Board of Supervisors in planning matters related to recreation matters and the City's park system. As a result, there is no pressing need to amend the Parks and Recreation Master Plan at this time. However, the Commission feels the trigger point for a future Parks and Recreation Master Plan update will be in the next 3 to 5 years after the completion of the Multi-purpose Athletic Center. The reason for this position is the 2006 Master Plan identified 57% of the public as "Not at all satisfied" with the "Availability of Indoor Recreation Opportunities." It is anticipated that with the construction of the Multi-purpose Athletic Center and the new recreation programming that will occur in this facility there will be a positive change in the community's perception on "Availability of Indoor Recreation Opportunities." It would be at that time the Commission feels it would be appropriate to move forward with a Parks and Recreation Master Plan update.

Finally, the recent economic downturn has presented many challenges for staff in regards to both staffing and budget reductions, including the increased use of many of the City's facilities. In evaluating the use, our department compared 2013 booked event activity to comparable activity in 2014. The comparison showed an 8% increase for park venues and 20.7% for the Community Center (excluding programmed recreation activities/classes). Also, it is important to note that all the staff reductions within the Parks and Recreation Department have never been replaced over the past eight fiscal years. However, the department has moved forward with staff working more efficiently and doing more with less as they continue to implement the recommendations within the Parks and Recreation Master Plan. These accomplishments have included new park facilities distributed throughout the community, an increasing number and variety of recreation programs, addressing the increased use at the Community Center, Bob Boldrick Theater, Carson City Fairgrounds/Fuji Park, other City park facilities, all while providing additional services to support the City's special events. It is with this in mind that the Parks and Recreation Commission is optimistic about the future of parks and recreation with this community and the continued improvement to the City's quality of life.

Having said that, the Commission is becoming increasingly concerned related to the continuing demands being placed on staff, especially the cumulative impact over the past nine years, the addition of new City's facilities and programs, and the department's increasing responsibilities for special events without any additional staff. Included with the Commission's above concerns are all the deferred maintenance that is currently happening to existing park facilities, Community Center, Aquatic Facility, and the aging fleet of Parks and Recreation Department's vehicles, lawnmowers, and hand held equipment. This equates into more downtime for equipment repair and employees begin less productive. Also, staff has less time to address various planning issues related to the JohnD Winters Centennial Park, the Rifle and Pistol Range, and the Carson City Fairgrounds/Fuji Park, as examples. As a result, the Commission wants to encourage the Board of Supervisors to seriously consider replacing a number of Parks and Recreation Department staff lost during the last economic down turn to offset the Parks and Recreation Department's increased work load and responsibilities.
