Re: 6.B ZA-2022-0050. Let the Planning Commissioners know they cannot make up their own definition of sustainability, nor can they use the developers' definition.

The true definition is: avoidance of the depletion of natural resources, including but not limited to light, air, land, water, and money. There is no limit to people, so adding people is NOT sustainability!

I, personally, am running out of water and money, so think carefully on this one!
