Community Meeting to Discuss the 2024 Building and Fire Code Adoption

Carson City, NV – Carson City’s Building Official, James Wentworth, and Fire Marshal, Michael Wilkinson, will be hosting a community outreach meeting on September 3 to discuss the anticipated adoption of the 2024 Building and Fire Codes. The community meeting is scheduled to be at The Studio @ Adams Hub, 177 W. Proctor Street, on Wednesday, September 3, from 3:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Wentworth stated, “The building codes represent a collective effort to prevent future harm by implementing regulations based on a historical record of what went wrong. The adoption of the latest codes and the permit and inspection processes are vital to this preventative approach, ensuring that construction meets minimum safety standards and reduces the risks of accidents, injuries, and property damage.” Acting Fire Chief Nyberg said, “Carson City Fire Department has reviewed and made recommendations to adopt these codes as the minimum standards for the safety of residents, business owners, visitors, and first responders of Carson City.” The building code materials presented at the meeting will be the same materials presented at the June 17 meeting.

The codes are available for review on the International Code Council (ICC) website at <https://codes.iccsafe.org/codes/i-codes>.

For additional information or questions, please reach out to James Wentworth at (775) 283-7672, jwentworth@carson.org, or Michael Wilkinson at (775) 283-7153, mwilkinson@carson.org.
